20 PUPILS DIE IN BUS ACCIDENT

Mack Is Advised To Quit FCC Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — A member of the House subcommittee investigating the Federal Communications Commission told Richard A. Mack to his face today the greatest service he could render would be to resign from the commission.

Mack made no immediate reply to this suggestion from Rep. Moss (D-Calif.).

It came during the second day of questioning of the commissioner, central figure in charges of influence surrounding award of television Channel 10 in Miami.

Mack has insisted that he has done nothing wrong, and he told reporters Thursday that of course he would not resign.

Under questioning by Moss, Mack testified that he took the word of Thurman A. Whiteside, his childhood friend, as to arrangements Whiteside made to provide him with an interest in the Stembler - Sheldon insurance agency of Miami, and with the sole ownership of Andar Inc., a holding company.

HE SAID HE did not question or check the amounts paid him as due on the participating interest he owned in the agency.

And he said he did not ask for details when Whiteside, a Miami attorney, told him about a year ago they would handle it through ownership of Andar.

Mack said he knew nothing of information Moss said he had received that a man identified as "your assistant, Mr. Barber" had been made vice president of Andar Inc.

Each of the FCC commissioners has a lawyer-assistant. Mack's is Earl Barber of Miami, who has told reporters he was once sort of a law clerk with Whiteside.

Moss told Mack: "This is incredible to me. As a member of the Federal Communications Commission you accept ownership of a holding company authorized to go into almost any kind of activity.

"You don't know who the officers are.

"You have no knowledge of the scope of its activities.

"You are willing to accept whatever others tell you is due you from your ownership.

"Mr. Mack, the greatest service you could render the Federal Communications Commission would be to submit immediately your resignation.

"On this testimony, if no other, you are unfit to serve on a group having the grave responsibilities of the Federal Communications Commission."

Anti-Benson Drive Continues

Midwest GOP Solons Seek Resignation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Midwest Republicans kept up their political fire at Secretary of Agriculture Benson today in the expressed hope of forcing him to reconsider his refusal to resign.

Rep. Weaver (R-Neb.), who carried GOP protests to President Eisenhower Thursday, told newsmen, "The President is not going to fire him and is not going to ask him to resign."

He said some 30 rebellious GOP Midwest House members, worried by what he called a grass roots political uprising against administration farm policies, plan to appeal to Benson to tender his resignation for the good of the Republican party.

"I told the President it was the opinion of the group that it may mean 20 to 30 House seats, a few Senate seats and governorships in the farm belt," he said.

BENSON, discounting any thoughts of resigning, insists that U. S. policies would be political assets rather than liabilities to Republicans who got out and worked for them.

Two Republican House members defended the secretary.

Rep. Gubser (R-Calif.) sent a letter to Eisenhower today calling for retention of Benson as "a man of integrity, foresight and courage," and asking Eisenhower to announce that the government is getting "completely out of the price support business."

Rep. Bass (R-NH) told the house that the "farm price support program does virtually nothing for New England. He said, "It is not only a burden to our taxpayers and to our consumers but it is killing our farming industry."

Scouting Parties On Moon Predicted Coming by 1970

WASHINGTON (AP) — An astronautical scientist predicted today a small scouting parties can be landed on the moon by 1970.

Krafft Ehrliche, a scientist with the Convair Astronautics Division of General Dynamics Corp., put forth this timetable for space travel:

In the period 1958-64, a rocket shot close to the moon, then one impacting on the moon, another circumnavigating it and one making a landing on the surface.

In the 1964-66 period, landing of vehicles carrying recording-transmitting instruments; rockets with men aboard to cruise near enough to make a lunar reconnaissance and, "in the period 1967-70, landing small scouting parties."

Ike Returns To Hospital For Checkup

President To Get Tooth Pulled, Have Neurology Exam

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower entered Walter Reed Army Hospital today for a physical examination. The check is a followup to the slight stroke he suffered last November. He also will have a tooth pulled.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, announced Eisenhower entered Walter Reed after sitting in for a while at a Cabinet meeting this morning.

The tooth, a back molar which was cracked recently, was to be extracted under local anesthetic.

Eisenhower later will be examined by the team of neurological specialists who were called in for consultation at the time of his minor stroke last Nov. 24.

Hagerty said the tooth was split recently, apparently when the President bit down on some hard substance. Hagerty added Eisenhower does not know precisely when it happened.

THERE IS NO infection, Hagerty said. The tooth will be pulled by Col. Robert B. Shira, an Army specialist at Walter Reed.

Neurologists scheduled to examine Eisenhower Saturday are Dr. Francis M. Forster, professor of neurology and dean of the Georgetown medical school; Dr. Houston H. Merritt, professor of neurology at Columbia University medical school; and Lt. Col. Roy E. Clausen Jr., chief of neurology at Walter Reed.

This was the first day back on the job for Hagerty himself, after a Walter Reed check on his stomach ulcers. His doctors reported him "in fairly good condition."

Hagerty entered the hospital Wednesday.

Rail Rate Hike Brings Coal Haulage Shift

COLUMBUS (AP) — Railroad rate increases have caused coal producers to use other means of transportation, meaning less revenue for the railroads, a business analyst told the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio Thursday.

Donald Gasper, who works for Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co., made that statement on behalf of the Ohio Coal Assn. The association and several other major coal users are fighting the application of all freight railroads operating in Ohio for a rate increase of about three per cent on a selected list of commodities.

Gasper told the commission that within a short time less than one-half the coal mined in Ohio will move by rail if the trend toward using other types of transportation continues.

The Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) earlier this month granted a freight increase for interstate traffic, but is investigating and will change rates if it finds them unreasonable.

The coal association and others protesting the state rate increase asked the state commission to postpone its decision until after the final ICC ruling, which may be six months away.

The commission decided not to act on that motion until after the railroads have a chance to say why the commission should act on the proposed rate increase before the ICC reports its findings.

Walnut Farmer Is Crushed to Death

John F. Schneider, 45, was accidentally crushed to death today at his farm on Bell Station-Fairfield Road about six miles north-east of Circleville.

According to Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover, Schneider was crushed while working in a barn which was undergoing repairs. The deputy said several 4 by 8 feet sheets of asbestos fell on the victim.

Schneider was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. E. F. Shane who was summoned by members of the family. The body was removed to the Defenbaugh Funeral Home.

He was born Jan. 18, 1913, in Knoxville, Tenn., a son of Fred and Adah Miller Schneider, both deceased.

IN 1939 he was married in Lo-

One son, J. Roger Schneider, one daughter Janet Louise, both of the home; step-mother, Mrs. Della Schneider, Knoxville, Tenn.; one brother, Fred L. Schneider, Columbus; and one sister, Mrs. James Standridge, Columbus.

He was a member of Hedges Chapel Methodist Church, Nebraska Grange, Pickaway County Farm Bureau and a director of the Pickaway County Dairy Service Unit.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in the Defenbaugh Funeral Home, with the Rev. Virgil Close officiating. Burial will be in Reber Hill Cemetery.

5-Man Team Chosen To Push America's Disarmament Aims

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States sent in a new team today to drive for a showdown with Russia on disarmament.

James J. Wadsworth, now deputy U. S. delegate to the United Nations, replaces Harold E. Stassen as chief negotiator. Backing him up are four citizen-advisers: Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, Robert A. Lovett, John J. McCloy and Walter Bedell Smith.

Secretary of State Dulles named them with President Eisenhower's approval.

Meanwhile the Atomic Energy Commission reports Russia set off two nuclear test bombs Thursday, making three this week.

Stassen left his disarmament post to seek the Republican nomination for governor in Pennsylvania. Stassen reportedly contended the United States should offer more concessions to Russia and Dulles disagreed.

Wadsworth, a 29-year veteran of government service, represented this country in disarmament talks in London in 1955. The following

THE NEW TEAM lineup signaled a U. S. move to pin down Russia, as well as America's allies, on just where everybody goes next.

The United States favors negotiations inside the new and untested 25-country U. N. Disarmament subcommittee. But full Allied agreement on this as the next step apparently has not yet been reached.

The subcommittee was enlarged after Russia contended the original group, including the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Russia, was stacked 4-to-1 against Russia. But Russia also refused to agree to the bigger group, saying it too was stacked.

The NATO allies suggested a foreign ministers' meeting, but again Russia said no.

Thursday night's U. S. statements deplored this Soviet attitude as obstructionist. It made no mention of the new Russian bomb tests, which indicated no letup in Soviet atomic tests despite steady "ban the bomb" propaganda from the Kremlin.

Baptist Minister Is Shot by One Of Twin Sons, 14

LAS CRUCES, N. M. (AP) — A Baptist minister, whittling a switch to punish his twin 14-year-old sons, was shot to death by one of them Thursday in front of his rectory.

The Rev. Leonard Boyett was shot once in the back with a .38-caliber revolver held by his son John after the pastor called the boy to come for punishment.

The boys had stolen the death weapon along with $30.10 from a family cookie jar.

Boyett discovered the loss, started whittling the three-foot, pencil-thin switch. Then he called, "John, come here."

John, standing in the front room with his sister Carolyn, 17, watching, lifted the revolver and fired. Both John and her twin brother Jack were in custody.

School Vehicle Plunges Into Swollen Stream

16 Youngsters Known To Have Escaped Trap In 30 Feet of Water

PRESTONSBURG, Ky. (AP) — A school bus carrying an estimated 38 children struck a wrecker, side-swiped an automobile, then plunged into the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River near here today.

State police feared at least 20 children and the bus driver, John Alex Derossert, were trapped in 30 feet of water. Sixteen others were known to have escaped through a rear door. Six were hospitalized.

The National Safety Council said it "undoubtedly is the worst school bus crash in its history."

The council explained this was an opinion because it does not keep statistics by type of bus.

The council said the worst bus accident on record was one that killed 28 persons near Waco, Tex., in August, 1952, when two buses collided.

More than four hours after the accident on U. S. 23, rescue workers still were unable to locate the bus. Small boats cruised the area searching for bodies.

"I WAS SITTING directly behind the driver when we went into the water," said Isaac Vanderpool, one of the survivors. "Some little kid opened the emergency door and we began scrambling outside."

Vanderpool, who estimated the bus contained 38 passengers including himself, said the "last thing I saw was the driver sitting behind the wheel. I don't think he got out."

The driver of the wrecker, Donald L. Horn, said he answered a call to pull a truck out of a ditch on the side of the road opposite the stream.

"I was trying to pull it across the highway," he continued, "when the bus rounded a curve and struck my wrecker from the rear." Horn said the bus then veered into a parked car and headed for the river.

Most of the youngsters aboard were high school students from the Cow Creek area — a mining community in southern Floyd County.

The bus also was bringing a number of children to elementary schools at Prestonsburg.

Levisa Fork, where the bus sank, is 20 feet above normal stage because of heavy rains the past two days.

Errors Found In Vanguard Pipe Assembly

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Navy has discovered faulty assembly of some crucial parts within the second stage of the Vanguard test rocket now awaiting launching.

The pipes leading to and from a small tank containing liquefied propane gas were discovered in reverse position.

The error apparently was overlooked in the inspection process at the manufacturing and assembly plant at Baltimore.

There was no suspicion of sabotage.

The embarrassing error contributed to the postponement of a Navy satellite launching attempt this week and led to a Vanguard propane fuel shortage that produced a further delay.

The difficulty reportedly has been corrected, and a Vanguard launching attempt may come any time next week.

It has been learned that the Vanguard passed inspection at the Martin Co. plant in Baltimore.

Only after it was erected in its launch stand here was it found that the two pipes had been switched. To avoid cutting into the propane tank, it was necessary to install a roundabout arrangement of piping. Then the new plumbing had to be tested.

The testing so depleted the supply of liquid propane for the Vanguard that replenishment was essential before there could be another launching of that rocket.

Blizzard Raking Midwestern Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A blizzard raked the western plains today while snow swept into the Midwest and heavy rains doused the Northeast.

A foot of snow piled up at Dickinson, N. D., and Pierre, S. D., and 14 inches accumulated at Chadron, Neb.

Drifts 6 to 8 feet high formed in the Hays, Kan., area. Five highways were blocked in Kansas and one was blocked near Fort Morgan, Colo.

A school bus was lost in the snow for a time near Natoma, Kans., but state police received a radio report that the young passengers had found shelter.

The wind-blown snow hit the Dakotas, Nebraska and Kansas and extended into eastern Colorado, southeastern Wyoming and Oklahoma.

THE SNOWSTORM also rolled into the Midwest, with warnings of snow up to 4 inches posted for parts of Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and northern Indiana.

Driving rains and tidal flooding beset the Northeast. Some families left their homes along the Connecticut shore and a number of coastal roads were flooded.

Flash floods threatened some areas in the Mid-Atlantic States and New England.

New York City was doused by 3.03 inches of rain in a 24-hour period—almost as much as the average rainfall there for the whole month of February.

Near zero temperatures added to the discomfort of the snow and stiff winds in some sections. Readings ranged from near zero in western North Dakota to the teens in northeastern Kansas.

The drifting snow in central Kansas blocked four main east-west highways and one north-south main artery. Some highways also were blocked in sections of northeastern Colorado as the storm struck areas from Fort Morgan to Akron.

Wet weather also hit areas from the Midwest to the Atlantic Coast.

GAO Arms Aid Claims Studied

Comptroller Receives Criticism, Sympathy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several top Republicans on the House Foreign Affairs Committee have challenged some General Accounting Office recommendations on arms aid, contending the GAO is stepping into cold war questions.

Comptroller General Joseph Campbell, head of GAO, denied ranging out of bounds in his job of auditing government spending. Several Democrats backed him, but complained of a secrecy label applied to nine GAO reports on arms aid.

The dispute was brought out in a transcript of a Feb. 19 closed-door hearing made public by the House committee today.

President Eisenhower is asking for $3.9 billion in new foreign aid funds, including $1.8 billion for military assistance to more than 40 countries.

The GAO reports, critical of parts of the program, have given ammunition to congressional opponents of the aid bill. One of Campbell's overall recommendations was that a finding should be made as to whether the long-range capability of the United States' aid program is bleeding U. S. taxpayers of dollars they can ill afford.

QUESTIONING by Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) brought from Campbell testimony that GAO has no access to minutes of the National Security Council, a top policy group.

Campbell indicated his information came from a letter written by one top State Department official to another.

Also, the GAO head explained, "long-range capability" was intended to mean funds Congress is likely to vote for arms aid.

Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio) told Campbell "You are doing exactly what you should do. I do not think you have tried to formulate any policy."

GAO witnesses said the nine reports on arms aid were secret because they used material the Pentagon had stamped secret. Hays questioned the secrecy label and Rep. Pilcher (D-Ga) said: "I do not think there is a thing in your report that every taxpayer in America should not read."

Kyger Creek Phone Cable Said Slashed

GALLIPOLIS (AP) — The strike-bound Kyger Creek power plant today received 12 more barges of coal in the wake of a cable-cutting incident which halted telephone service to the giant plant for nearly seven hours.

Today's coal shipment brought the plant's receipts in the last three days to about the 47,000-ton mark. The plant consumes about 10,000 tons a day.

Richard C. Roderick, commercial manager for the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., reported a 51-pair telephone cable serving the plant was cut with an ax or hatchet about 5:15 p. m. Thursday. Service was restored early today.

James G. Cox, administrative assistant for the Ohio Valley Electric Corp., which operates the plant, while making no attempt to fix the blame for the incident, pointed to a new section of the Ohio law which provides a maximum $10,000 fine and a 1-20 year prison sentence for vandalism against utility lines.

The plant, second largest steam generating plant in the world, uses eight tons of coal a minute and produces power for the Atomic Energy Commission's Pike County plant.

No move has been made to renew negotiations in the strike, now in its fifth day.

The only action Thursday came when Gallia County Common Pleas Court Judge Robert Betz replaced a previously issued restraining order. The previous order limited the number of pickets at each gate at Kyger Creek to four. A temporary injunction issued Thursday imposes the same restrictions.

Educator Slugged, Man, 32, Arrested

TOLEDO (AP) — A father was arrested Thursday for knocking down a school principal who had slapped his daughter.

Herman Galloway, 32, of nearby Swanton surrendered at the sheriff's office a few hours after the school principal Joseph Hertzfeld obtained an assault and battery warrant against him.

Hertzfeld told deputies Galloway entered his office and demanded to know whether he had struck his daughter, Thelma, 15.

Hertzfeld replied, "yes, I slapped her on the arm once because she had called her teacher a name."

At that, he said, Galloway knocked him down and repeatedly hit him in the face.

Power Firm's Aides Taking Strike Vote

COLUMBUS (AP) — Union workers of the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. began to take a strike vote today.

The move came after an all-night negotiating session on a new contract broke up this morning with no reported progress.

Federal Mediator J. J. Montoney reported as the session ended:

"It looks, at the moment, as though there will be a strike."

The present company-union contract expires at midnight tonight. Montoney reported the long session between C&SOE and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers made "some progress, but not enough."

Balloting on the strike authorization was to continue all day today.

Montoney said he expects no further company-union meetings today "unless some unforeseen development would offer some hope."

But company officials, who said their latest offer would mean an 11-cent an hour increase for union members as a group, said they expect another session with the union during the day.

The company announced that, in event of a strike, it expects supervisors to keep service going, adding: "We see nothing in the immediate future that would interrupt service to our customers."

James J. Wadsworth, now deputy U. S. delegate to the United Nations, replaces Harold E. Stassen as chief negotiator. Backing him up are four citizen-advisers: Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, Robert A. Lovett, John J. McCloy and Walter Bedell Smith.

Secretary of State Dulles named them with President Eisenhower's approval.

Meanwhile the Atomic Energy Commission reports Russia set off two nuclear test bombs Thursday, making three this week.

Stassen left his disarmament post to seek the Republican nomination for governor in Pennsylvania. Stassen reportedly continued the United States should offer more concessions to Russia and Dulles disagreed.

Wadsworth, a 20-year veteran of government service, represented this country in disarmament talks in London in 1955. The following year he was chosen to negotiate a world atoms for peace agency which since has become a reality.

THE NEW TEAM lineup signaled a U. S. move to pin down Russia, as well as America's allies, on just where everybody goes next.

The United States favors negotiations inside the new and untested 25-country U. N. Disarmament subcommittee. But full Allied agreement on this as the next step apparently has not yet been reached.

The subcommittee was enlarged after Russia contended the original group, including the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Russia, was stacked 4-to-1 against Russia. But Russia also refused to agree to the bigger group, saying it too was stacked.

The NATO allies suggested a foreign ministers' meeting, but again Russia said no.

Thursday night's U. S. statements deplored this Soviet attitude as obstructionist. It made no mention of the new Russian bomb tests, which indicated no letup in Soviet atomic tests despite steady "ban the bomb" propaganda from the Kremlin.

Baptist Minister Is Shot by One Of Twin Sons, 14

LAS CRUCES, N. M. (AP)—A Baptist minister, whittling a switch to punish his twin 14-year-old sons, was shot to death by one of them Thursday in front of his rectory.

The Rev. Leonard Boyett was shot once in the back with a .38-caliber revolver held by his son John after the pastor called the boy to come for punishment.

The boys had stolen the death weapon along with $30.10 from a family cookie jar.

Boyett discovered the loss, started whittling the three-foot, pencil-thin switch. Then he called, "John, come here."

John, standing in the front room with his sister Carolyn, 17, watching, lifted the revolver and fired. Both John and her twin brother Jack were in custody.

School Vehicle Plunges Into Swollen Stream

16 Youngsters Known To Have Escaped Trap In 30 Feet of Water

PRESTONSBURG, Ky. (AP)—A school bus carrying an estimated 38 children struck a wrecker, side-swiped an automobile, then plunged into the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River near here today.

State police feared at least 20 children and the bus driver, John Alex Derossett, were trapped in 30 feet of water. Sixteen others were known to have escaped through a rear door. Six were hospitalized.

The National Safety Council said it "undoubtedly is the worst school bus crash in its history." The council explained this was an opinion because it does not keep statistics by type of bus.

The council said the worst bus accident on record was one that killed 28 persons near Waco, Tex., in August, 1952, when two buses collided.

More than four hours after the accident on U. S. 23, rescue workers still were unable to locate the bus. Small boats cruised the area searching for bodies.

"I WAS SITTING directly behind the driver when we went into the water," said Isaac Vanderpool, one of the survivors. "Some little kid opened the emergency door and we began scrambling outside."

Vanderpool, who estimated the bus contained 38 passengers including himself, said the "last thing I saw was the driver sitting behind the wheel. I don't think he got out."

The driver of the wrecker, Donald L. Horn, said he answered a call to pull a truck out of a ditch on the side of the road opposite the stream.

"I was trying to pull it across the highway," he continued, "when the bus rounded a curve and struck my wrecker from the rear." Horn said the bus then veered into a parked car and headed for the river.

Most of the youngsters aboard were high school students from the Cow Creek area — a mining community in southern Floyd County.

The bus also was bringing a number of children to elementary school at Prestonsburg.

Levisa Fork, where the bus sank, is 20 feet above normal stage because of heavy rains the past two days.

Errors Found In Vanguard Pipe Assembly

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Navy has discovered faulty assembly of some crucial parts within the second stage of the Vanguard test rocket now awaiting launching.

The pipes leading to and from a small tank containing liquefied propane gas were discovered in reverse position.

The error apparently was overlooked in the inspection process at the manufacturing and assembly plant at Baltimore.

There was no suspicion of sabotage.

The embarrassing error contributed to the postponement of a Navy satellite launching attempt this week and led to a Vanguard propane fuel shortage that produced a further delay.

The difficulty reportedly has been corrected, and a Vanguard launching attempt may come any time next week.

It has been learned that the Vanguard passed inspection at the Martin Co. plant in Baltimore.

Only after it was erected in its launch stand here was it found that the two pipes had been switched. To avoid cutting into the propane tank, it was necessary to install a roundabout arrangement of piping. Then the new plumbing had to be tested.

The testing so depleted the supply of liquid propane for the Vanguard that replenishment was essential before there could be another launching of that rocket.

Blizzard Raking Midwestern Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A blizzard raked the western plains today while snow swept into the Midwest and heavy rains doused the Northeast.

A foot of snow piled up at Dickinson, N. D., and Pierre, S. D., and 14 inches accumulated at Chadron, Neb.

Drifts 6 to 8 feet high formed in the Hays, Kan., area. Five highways were blocked in Kansas and one was blocked near Fort Morgan, Colo.

A school bus was lost in the snow for a time near Natoma, Kans., but state police received a radio report that the young passengers had found shelter.

The wind-blown snow hit the Dakotas, Nebraska and Kansas and extended into eastern Colorado, southeastern Wyoming and Oklahoma.

THE SNOWSTORM also rolled into the Midwest, with warnings of snow up to 4 inches posted for parts of Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and northern Indiana.

Driving rains and tidal flooding beset the Northeast. Some families left their homes along the Connecticut shore and a number of coastal roads were flooded.

Flash floods threatened some areas in the Mid-Atlantic States and New England.

New York City was doused by 3.03 inches of rain in a 24-hour period—almost as much as the average rainfall there for the whole month of February.

Near zero temperatures added to the discomfort of the snow and stiff winds in some sections. Readings ranged from near zero in western North Dakota to the teens in northwestern Kansas.

The drifting snow in central Kansas blocked four main east-west highways and one north-south main artery. Some highways also were blocked in sections of northeastern Colorado as the storm struck areas from Fort Morgan to Akron.

Wet weather also hit areas from the Midwest to the Atlantic Coast.

Kyger Creek Phone Cable Said Slashed

GALLIPOLIS (AP)—The strike-bound Kyger Creek power plant today received 12 more barges of coal in the wake of a cable-cutting incident which halted telephone service to the giant plant for nearly seven hours.

Today's coal shipment brought the plant's receipts in the last three days to about the 47,000-ton mark. The plant consumes about 10,000 tons a day.

Richard C. Roderick, commercial manager for the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., reported a 51-pair telephone cable serving the plant was cut with an ax or hatchet about 5:15 p. m. Thursday. Service was restored early today.

James G. Cox, administrative assistant for the Ohio Valley Electric Corp., which operates the plant, while making no attempt to fix the blame for the incident, pointed to a new section of the Ohio law which provides a maximum $10,000 fine and a 1-20 year prison sentence for vandalism against utility lines.

The plant, second largest steam generating plant in the world, uses eight tons of coal a minute and produces power for the Atomic Energy Commission's Pike County plant.

No move has been made to renew negotiations in the strike, now in its fifth day.

The only action Thursday came when Gallia County Common Pleas Court Judge Robert Betz replaced a previously issued restraining order. The previous order limited the number of pickets at each gate at Kyger Creek to four. A temporary injunction issued Thursday imposes the same restrictions.

Stork Fails To Halt Lady Ham Operator

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mrs. Gerald Piper of Imperial, Mo., an avid ham radio operator, is doing her broadcasting this week from the maternity ward of the Normandy Osteopathic Hospital.

Mrs. Piper had her radio equipment with her when she checked into the hospital. She gave birth to a nine-pound daughter Wednesday. Before the day was out she had resumed her radio chats, from her hospital bed, with members of her family and other amateur operators.

HERMAN Galloway, 32, of nearby Swanton surrendered at the sheriff's office a few hours after the school principal Joseph Hertzfeld obtained an assault and battery warrant against him.

Hertzfeld told deputies Galloway entered his office and demanded to know whether he had struck his daughter, Thelma, 15.

Hertzfeld replied, "yes, I slapped her on the arm once because she had called her teacher a name."

At that, he said, Galloway knocked him down and repeatedly hit him in the face.

GAO Arms Aid Claims Studied

Comptroller Receives Criticism, Sympathy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several top Republicans on the House Foreign Affairs Committee have challenged some General Accounting Office recommendations on arms aid, contending the GAO is stepping into cold war questions.

Comptroller General Joseph Campbell, head of GAO, denied ranging out of bounds in his job of auditing government spending. Several Democrats backed him, but complained of a secrecy label applied to nine GAO reports on arms aid.

The dispute was brought out in a transcript of a Feb. 19 closed-door hearing made public by the House committee today.

President Eisenhower is asking for $3.9 billion in new foreign aid funds, including $1.8 billion for military assistance to more than 40 countries.

The GAO reports, critical of parts of the program, have given ammunition to congressional opponents of the aid bill. One of Campbell's over-all recommendations was that a finding should be made as to whether total arms aid costs "are within the long-range capability of the United States." Aid critics have contended the program is bleeding U. S. taxpayers of dollars they can ill afford.

QUESTIONING by Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) brought from Campbell testimony that GAO has no access to minutes of the National Security Council, a top policy group. Campbell indicated his information came from a letter written by one top State Department official to another.

Also, the GAO head explained, "long-range capability" was intended to mean funds Congress is likely to vote for arms aid.

Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio) told Campbell "You are doing exactly what you should do. I do not think you have tried to formulate any policy."

GAO witnesses said the nine reports on arms aid were secret because they used material the Pentagon had stamped secret. Hays questioned the secrecy label and Rep. Pilcher (D-Ga.) said: "I do not think there is a thing in your report that every taxpayer in America should not read."

Power Firm's Aides Taking Strike Vote

COLUMBUS (AP)—Union workers of the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. began to take a strike vote today.

The move came after an all-night negotiating session on a new contract broke up this morning with no reported progress.

Federal Mediator J. J. Montoney reported as the session ended:

"It looks, at the moment, as though there will be a strike."

The present company-union contract expires at midnight tonight.

Montoney reported the long session with C&SO and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers made "some progress, but not enough."

Balloting on the strike authorization was to continue all day today. Montoney said he expects no further company-union meetings today "unless some unforeseen development would offer some hope."

But company officials, who said their latest offer would mean an 11-cent an hour increase for union members as a group, said they expect another session with the union during the day.

The company announced that, in event of a strike, it expects supervisors to keep service going, adding: "We see nothing in the immediate future that would interrupt service to our customers."

Pews Ordered For Mission

The Circleville Community Mission Board of Trustees announces that a contract has been made with the Ruggles Manufacturing Company, Morristown, Tenn., for the purchase of new pews to be installed in the sanctuary of the recently constructed Mission Building. The installation according to the contract will be completed by June 1.

The purchase and installation price for each pew is approximately $40. Donations for several of these pews have been received from interested individuals and churches. Those interested in sharing the expense of furnishing the Mission may do so by contacting Montford Kirkwood Jr., 110 Collins Court or phone 499-Y. It is hoped that past supporters will now contribute the price of one pew.

The seats presently being used by the Mission have been borrowed and will be returned when the new ones are installed.

A good used piano is needed for use in the sanctuary of the Mission.

Rotarians, Farmers Told To Learn More of World

American farmers must learn more about their overseas neighbors. That's the message given Pickaway County farmers and Rotarians at the annual Rural-Urban day dinner yesterday by the honorable James G. Stewart, judge of the Ohio Supreme Court.

Judge Stewart spoke to about 140 members of the Circleville Rotary Club and their afmer guests at the EUB Service Center.

He told the group that essentially all peoples believe the same thing and have the same goal. He called on the farmers to learn about the problems of the world then do something about them. Judge Stewart pointed out that the government is spending $40,000 an hour to store surplus while in other places people are starving. He said "something's cockeyed." The jurist declared that the American farmer cannot be allowed to go broke since he produces what we all need.

HE SAID that the Americans have been like children in our foreign policies, since we haven't had the experience of other countries have had, mainly due to our isolationist background which started with George Washington.

Judge Stewart declared, "we all must work to form intelligent public opinion, which in the end governs our country. No longer can we look down our noses at other peoples. We must help them like brothers. We need them."

Judge Stewart was introduced by Judge William D. Radcliffe, of the 3rd District Court of Appeals. A guest was the Honorable James F. Bell, London, of the Ohio Supreme Court. The meeting was conducted by Rotary president William Deffenbaugh.

Unemployed List Grows

For the week ending February 22, 1958, the Circleville Office of the Ohio State Employment Service registered for Ohio unemployment compensation 333 claimants unemployed one week or more.

This is compared with an average weekly number of 310 in January and 277 in February, 1957. An additional 55 claimants unemployed less than a week were registered, which compared with an average weekly number of 45 last month and 23 a year ago.

Maximum weekly benefits are $33 per week, plus $6 weekly for claimants having two or more children. This insured unemployment for February, 1958, is at its highest peak since 1950.

Compared with other years in which business establishments experienced employment reversals, insured unemployment of at least one week is one and one-half times the February 1954 level of 216, yet one-fourth below the all-time February "high" of 458 reached in 1950.

The ranks of unemployment have expanded in response to seasonal fluctuations of construction activity and factory layoffs initiated by defense cutbacks and inventory accumulations. Manufacturing displacements have centered primarily in the durable-goods industries. Favorable weather conditions for construction and other outdoor activity should reduce the number of unemployed over the next few months.

FEBRUARY registrations of claimants here newly unemployed and unemployed at least one week are shown below:

Newly unemployed as of February 1 was 32 and unemployed one week or more was 343. For February 8 it was 29 newly unemployed and 340 unemployed one week or more. The week of February 15 found 44 newly unemployed and 322 unemployed for a week or more. Fifty-five were newly unemployed during the week of February 22 and 333 had been unemployed for a week or more.

Nudge Slightly To Upside Stock Prices

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market nudged slightly to the upside about noon today but showed little vigor.

Changes were small in most cases. Gains outnumbered losses about 2 to 1, a reversal of the picture in early trading.

Volume was at around the same slow pace as Thursday. Brokers said there was little in the way of major news to affect the overall market. Buying was developing here and there when prices got down to the bargain stage, they said.

Business news was spotty. A few companies called back some employees. Dun & Bradstreet reported retail trade this week was well below last year.

Steels, chemicals, motors and tobaccos were a shade higher. Oils and aircrafts were mixed and metals down slightly.

U. S. government issues were unchanged to lower.

Hoover Asks Cut In Spending, Taxes

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover urged a slash in government spending for non-defense purposes and an accompanying tax cut as the best way to achieve economic recovery.

Addressing a New York Chamber of Commerce dinner Thursday night Hoover said: "There are some old and proved wonder drugs useful both to prevent inflation and to speed recovery from recessions. The most useful of these economic wonder drugs is the elimination of waste and the reduction of nonessential federal spending until we have a balanced budget."

He said, "Every time I see a doctor with a needle I faint." After Mallia promised to register, Judge Picard adjourned his case for 30 days and released him on $1,000 bond.

Probers Told of Arms Cache Purchased by Struck Firm

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate rackets investigator testified today the Kohler Co. purchased shotguns, pistols and large stores of ammunition after the United Auto Workers won bargaining rights for Kohler workers.

A Kohler official said most of the arms were for a plant trap-shooting club and for training plant guards.

Carmine Bellino, an investigator for the Senate rackets investigating committee, said Kohler records show the purchase of thousands of rounds of ammunitions, 18 shotguns, and 20 pistols in 1952, 1953 and 1954. The UAW was recognized at the plant in 1952.

"I would say the company did not buy any before that," Bellino said.

Yemen Dickers For Role in New Arab Plan

CAIRO (AP)—The crown prince of Yemen arrived in Cairo today to federate his feudal, barren corner of the Arabian Peninsula with the United Arab Republic.

Crown Prince Saif al Islam el Badr flew to this U.A.R. capital with a few Yemenite officials after conferring with his father, Imam Ahmed, the absolute monarch of the 75,000-square-mile kingdom on the southeast edge of the Red Sea.

Just how the Yemen monarchy will fit into the republic formed by Egypt and Syria was not known. After the U.A.R. was proclaimed, Nasser has been in Dardent Nasser, invited other Arab nations to attach themselves to it while retaining different forms of government. Egypt, Syria and Yemen already are linked in a joint military command and all receive arms from the Communist world. There was no indication when

U.S. Business Climate in March Studied

All Indications Point To Season Changeable As Ordinary Weather

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The business climate in March seems sure to be as changeable as the weather.

On the sunny side, President Eisenhower is counting on a seasonal rise in employment to perk up public confidence.

Some industrialists are predicting that in retrospect February will be seen to have marked the bottom of the slump in their lines.

Industries suffering because their customers have been living off inventories instead of ordering are hoping that March will see an end to that, if not a reversal.

On the blustery side March will blow in some more unpleasant statistics — most of them telling us how bad things have been in the month that many businessmen are glad to see ending today.

Merchants will worry both about the bad weather when it comes along now and then and about the bad luck for them that Easter comes earlier this year than they might like and therefore may hold down apparel sales.

Taxpayers will find a mixture of sweet and sour, too. There seems sure to be more talk in March of cutting taxes. But the Pentagon is set to ask for another hike in defense spending. The interior department is looking for ways to spend money faster on public works.

March may see a testing of the widely held belief that home building is due to pick up. The Federal Home Loan Bank Board says that in March member savings and loan associations may borrow more money from the 12 regional banks to finance mortgages for those who may want to build.

Some industry executives see better days due to slip in on the March winds. Several top steelmen say that customer enquiries give them hope that orders will pick up moderately.

A leading maker of machine tools says that new orders are a bit healthier now than in the dark days of last fall.

He believes the low point in his industry has been passed because he thinks his customers are beginning to realize "this is a recession and not a depression."

The March announcement on the cost of living seems sure to be unpleasant because it will be dealing with conditions in mid-February.

But given an assist from the weather March could bring some relief from high food prices as southern produce farms start producing well again.

And if the weather turns really good it might thaw out some of that price resistance which has held auto sales down in recent months. The lure of the roads in spring has helped Detroit before. It might again.

Few look for any real upsurge of industry in March. But if it does nothing more than stop the down spin many will be happy.

Rubber Union Plans Talk with Goodyear

CLEVELAND (AP)—Negotiations on pensions and insurance between the United Rubber Workers and Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. will open here March 19.

Some 23,000 Goodyear workers in 11 URW locals and dependents of these workers are affected.

A full payment surgical plan will be a major union goal. The present URW plan has a $250 top surgical fee. The union also will seek improvement in the benefits paid for fees for doctors' visits and in the pension program. The insurance and pension plans are company-paid and administered.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Bob and I are both 25 and have been married four years. We have two lovely children. Bob is very affectionate and understanding. He constantly tells me of his love for me and the children. I love him dearly and wouldn't give him up for the world; but I am very depressed.

In our four years' marriage I can count at least 10 women whose telephone numbers Bob has taken. I find these numbers in his possession and ask him about them—and most times he will tell the truth. He says he hasn't called the numbers and doesn't know why he takes them.

The other day I came across another number; and when I caught him in a lie about it, he broke down and told the truth. As usual, I broke down crying and told him I couldn't stand it any more and he would have to leave. He felt I meant it this time; and assured me the girl didn't mean anything; and that he'd never called the number.

He agreed to leave, admitting he was wrong to take the number, and said he didn't want to hurt me any more. But later he telephoned to say he would come back if I wanted him back; and I told him I did, because I love him too much to part with him, and I still believe that he loves me.

He can't provide any explanation for his actions; and says that it is no fault of mine. He claims I have been a good wife and mother.

Hoodlum-Juke Box Tieup Being Probed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rackets Investigating Committee is checking on allegations of widespread tieups among hoodlums, labor unions and operators in the coin machine business.

Counsel Robert F. Kennedy disclosed that Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit are among places under investigation.

Kennedy said the subject came up briefly in the committee inquiry on the Teamsters Union with William C. Buffalino, Detroit president of Teamsters Local 985, whose uncle, Russell Buffalino, was one of those at a "crime convention" at Apalachin, N. Y., last fall.

Police said they found a number of stench vials in a rented car occupied by Robert Adams, 40, UAW international representative; and Melvin Zimkowski, 46, executive secretary of the United Labor Committee.

Stench bombs have been released recently in LaSalle's Department Store, under strike by the Retail Clerks Union.

TV Prefers Canned Music

Few Programs Now Hiring Orchestras

NEW YORK (AP)—Did you know that with a few exceptions the only television programs using live music these days are quiz shows and, of course, musical varieties? Do you care?

If you have observed the fact or at least noted the tinny and repetitious quality of some of the canned music heard on television then you'll delight the heart of every musician—and especially of Paul Taubman.

Taubman currently is the musical director of three quiz shows on NBC-TV—Twenty-One, Tic Tac Dough and Dough Re Mi—and of the CBS-TV daytime serial, "Edge of Night."

"The producers of quiz shows realize what an integral part an orchestra plays in creating the mood of a program," he said the other day. "Can you imagine on Twenty-One for example, how deadly that 15-second trek forward of a contestant would be without music?"

U.S. Steel Hour is the only regular dramatic show now regularly using live music, says Taubman. Jack Benny, "a man of great know-how, wouldn't be caught dead using tape on his show." Besides the variety and musical programs, Wide World and the Jack Paar Show are two that enhance their entertainment value, Taubman believes, by using music that's fresh instead of from a can.

Despite the many arguments that can be raised for live music as better than taped music on television, it's unlikely that the pattern will be drastically changed in the near future. The reason is simply this: it's cheaper in the can than fresh.

er, and always look pretty to him. Finding these telephone numbers is very depressing, however; and I just don't know what to do any longer. Perhaps I have failed somewhere.

G. S.
DEAR G.S.: Simply stated, Bob is a fool. Or a dope, to employ slang. There are many kinds of a fool, and different definitions of a fool. Webster supplies these definitions that apply to Bob's behavior—"One who trifles; who tampers; who wastes time; a deceiver, a dupe." Bob is all of this in respect to the ladies who give him a second glance.

When he takes a woman's telephone number, he is living a daydream for the time being. He is Don Juan giving the gal a break—paying her the tribute of feeling admired, appreciated and desired by him; trying to make her happy and make a hit, so that she will remember him. All for what?

All because Bob is a manly self-centered, self-serving operator in his social and personal relations—always with an eye to getting something out of the situation, or the encounter, for himself. Thus he can't have a friendly exchange with a beguiling woman (magnetic to him; or seemingly available), without earmarking her as a future potential conquest.

As to whether you've failed somehow — it might be said that you can't make a silk purse of a sow's ear. True. In the final estimate, only Bob can revise his character for the better; and then only with the help of God, most earnestly asked for. However, you too are in need of more strength of character, and more vision of what marriage should be.

You miss the boat of happiness, in weakly loving Bob more than you love honor and truth and rectitude for their own sake. For a good foundation of understanding, of how to be a wife whose worth is above rubies, read "Life Together" (Sheed & Ward).

Ohioans Held For Forging Armco Checks

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—Police Chief John McIntyre of the Ashland Armco plant, said Thursday that Claude Horn of Dayton, Ohio, and Yvonne Evans, 19, of Middletown, Ohio, have been arrested and charged with transporting equipment to make forged checks.

When arrested at a motel in nearby Ironton, Ohio, McIntyre said Horn had in his possession 21 bogus checks on Armco totaling some $1,200.

Horn and Miss Evans were to be taken to Portsmouth, Ohio, for arraignment before a U.S. commissioner.

McIntyre said a warrant also has been issued for Lonnie Williams, age and address undisclosed, in connection with the case, which involved the cashing of phony payroll checks. Williams was said to have escaped from the motel at the time of the arrest of Miss Evans.

A quantity of "blanks" had been stolen from the Armco printing plant in Middletown some time ago, McIntyre said.

Two of the checks, each for some $90, were cashed here.

Fog Still Has Us Stumped

Man with all his technological and scientific accomplishments is still licked by blankets of fog which cover a large part of the country periodically. Huge trucks and sleek automobiles slow down from a normal speed to less than a turtle's crawl. Giant planes are grounded and ships either come to a standstill or sneak cautiously through channels.

Tomes have been written about fogs and poets have done themselves proud on the subject, but the man who wants to drive from his job to his home, or vice versa, is still worried about fogs. Fog lamps seem little more effective than would a candle stuck in a bowl of pea soup.

The main highways have white lines, but every driver in rural areas will testify to the need of better guides for intersections and on the feeder roads. Once a driver leaves a principal thoroughfare he's virtually blind and creeps along mostly by instinct. A familiar tree on the side of the road may keep him clear of a culvert or a light in a house may be his "lighthouse" to keep him from the shoals.

But generally there is a lack of signs that will warn a driver when he is approaching a particular corner, or when he is dangerously near the shoulders of a road.

A man behind the wheel of a super-car realizes only too well, as he crawls through fog, that despite the latest in automotive engineering and modern science in highway construction, he is still a puny creature at the mercy of nature.

Spending Not a Cure-All

"Spending" proposals continue to blossom in and out of Congress, but it has never been positively demonstrated that the government can actually manipulate the economy at will through peacetime deficit spending.

The "compensatory" spending theories of the late Lord Keynes were tried in the 1930s, but it wasn't until after the outbreak of World War II that the economy really came to life. The repeated massive deficits of the war years provided the basis for an explosive credit expansion when monetized into the towering public debt. Pentup consumer demand began expressing itself with the depreciated dollars the Treasury was printing. This consumer spending set off a frenzied capital

It's never been shown that all the complicated and minute interrelated factors comprising the total economy are fully susceptible to bureaucratic manipulation. Furthermore, no reference to "compensatory" spending is proper unless it is made clear that the true Keynesian theory was never followed in this country. Lord Keynes proposed that the debt incurred in lean times be reduced by the greater tax yields of the prosperous years.

That's where the compensation was supposed to occur. But in practice the growth of federal spending has always absorbed the increased tax revenues resulting from intensified economic activity.

Man in Moon Crying, 'Help'

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — Have you been saving up pennies to finance a vacation to the moon?

Well, if you have, now is a good time to stop, break open your piggy bank and spend the money on the nearest blonde. You'll have more fun.

Like millions of red-blooded Americans I, too, was eager to make a pioneer voyage to the moon. I was, that is, until I did a little research on the earth's only original, or pre-Russian moon.

Although I consulted such standard works as the Encyclopedia Britannica, I found their articles on the moon a bit too advanced for a mere tourist. After all, who knows what a synodic month is? Or a draconic month? And what does it mean to you to be told that on the moon the darker parts of Oceanus Procellarum reflect only an eighth as much light as the Crater Aristarchus?

The real blood-curdling facts about the moon, however, are fully bared in a little volume called "The Young Scientist's Funbook, for Boys and Girls age 10 to 15."

From this lunar Baedeker for the barefoot scholar, I learned: The moon is no place for insomniacs. The nights there are two weeks long. So are the days. The moon is no place for music lovers. Because it has no atmosphere, you can't hear a sound of any kind. In one way this is an advantage. You could sit three feet from a rock 'n' roll band and not even be aware it was playing.

The moon is no place for people who like to keep their feet on the ground. Because its gravitational pull is only a sixth that of the earth, you'd have trouble avoiding floating every time you went for a walk.

The moon is no place for claustrophobes. It has no air and the sky is black.

The moon is no place for people who like cold weather. During the day it is so hot that you could fry an egg in your hand. You'd fry, too.

When you get right down to it, the moon simply is no place for ordinary people at all. It isn't true that sleeping in moonlight will make you addled, as the old legend says, but anyone who pines to voyage to the moon to get away from the cares of earth is certainly deluded.

The next time you get a chance take a good long look at the man in the moon. Do you think he's smiling? He isn't. It's an optical illusion.

Actually, his mouth is wide open and he's crying, "Help!"

Satellite Delayed 12 Years

By George Sokolsky

It is impossible intelligently to read the testimony of Robert E. Gross, chairman of the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, before the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee, because most of it has been deleted. Nevertheless, one catches a word here and there. And the most important one is 1946.

For apparently it was in the year 1946 that this project was conceived. Lockheed subsequently went into various new weapons on a limited basis. How one engages in such an enterprise on a limited basis, it is difficult to say.

Most Americans assume that the United States got into the Sputnik business after we discovered that the Russians were beating us to the punch, but here we discover that the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation has been in the enterprise for at least 12 years. L. Eugene Root, a Lockheed vice president, testified:

"...It remains to give this program a complete authorization and centralized and go on it, taking advantage of this work that has been going on since 1946. We have a tremendous group of subcontractors and associate contractors on this thing that number up into the fifties." One needs to be a detective to piece together all the quarrels in the Pentagon, during the 12 years since 1946, among the Army, Navy and Air Force over which department will produce the Sputnik. For the Lockheed people produced a contract at the committee hearing, and Sen. Stennis wanted to know what the red lines in the contract meant.

LAFF-A-DAY

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ONE OF THOSE OIL billionaires made it inside the Pearly Gates and was astounded to discover there wasn't a sizeable choir in all Heaven. He buttonholed Saint Peter on the double and boomed, "Let's organize the dawn-gone biggest choir of all time! I propose we round up 1,000 sopranos, 1,000 tenors, 1,000 contraltos, and 1,000 baritones."

"Sounds impressive," allowed Saint Peter, "but what about basses?" "Oh," said the billionaire, "I'll sing bass myself."

A racetrack addict finally moaned to a pal, "I'm through with horses! A wonderful doctor has made the mere thought of them obnoxious. I can't even stand looking at a carousel any longer."

"Remarkable," observed the pal. "Where does this great doctor maintain his quarters?" The ex-addict replied, "About seven furlongs from here."

Hero Worshipping Is Poor Substitute for Real Action

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Don't be a hero worshiper. We all have our favorite actors, actresses and sports stars. Some perform better than others in each individual's judgment.

Admire their talent and concede their ability, but let it go at that. Worshipping movie and television stars, musicians, singers and professional athletes can actually be overdone.

Too much time can be spent writing fan letters, forming fan clubs, dreaming of a glamorous life instead of being put on some more important endeavor.

We expect a certain amount of this hero worship from youngsters and adolescents. In fact, millions of dollars are spent on advertising just to create it.

But some of these inactive youngsters would be far better off participating actively in sports, learning to cook, or developing some kind of hobby. Most doctors agree that such pursuits establish coordination of the body and help alleviate both emotional and physical tension.

It's fine to try to attain the skill of some actor or sports star you admire if that is going to be your life's ambition. But isn't it more fun and more worth while to play baseball or tennis yourself, instead of sitting in front of the TV set drooling over the prowess of some professional player?

JOHNS-MANVILLE BUILDING MATERIALS

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON — You want a TV station? You need money. Lots of it. Not just for building the station and all that goes into it. But thousands and thousands just to apply for a license to run one.

No wonder a House subcommittee now is investigating the pressures put on the Federal Communications Commission, which grants the licenses.

Those in a very good position to know estimate it costs $300,000 to $500,000 to build a TV station and get it started if it's in a major, or big city, area, and perhaps no less than $200,000 if it's in a smaller place.

That's after a man gets a license. But all the work and help necessary to get the license may run from $15,000 on up into hundreds of thousands of dollars, not to mention the time which may be anywhere from many months to years.

This will give some idea of what's involved in simply applying for a TV station license. First, you get a number of forms to fill out. Then you start hiring lawyers and engineers.

To begin with, there are legal requirements. If you're an individual, are you a citizen? If you're a corporation, are you qualified to do business? You'll have to meet state requirements too.

Next: questions about your finances, meaning proof that you can build the station and afford to keep it running until the profits start coming in.

You must show the FCC—in complete layout—the kind of programs you'll present if you get the license. This means programs hour by hour for at least a week, plus explanations of how much time for commercial, for sustaining programs, and programs of public service.

About this time you get down to the engineering part. To build a station you must have land. This means you must buy it—before knowing whether you'll get a license—or lease it or get an option on it.

It must be in a location that won't interfere with other nearby channels. And there are engineering details about the size of the transmitter, and so on, worlds of details.

In addition: maps of the area, photographs of the proposed station site from all directions. All this takes months to prepare. If you're the only one asking for a license in a particular area, you can get faster action than if others are applying for the same license.

The FCC's Broadcasting Bureau staff—lawyers, accountants, engineers—go over your application, if you are the only applicant, and then, if satisfied, can recommend to the seven-man FCC that it give you a license. It can do so.

But even this takes months. Where there are a number of applicants the same staff work is done on all the applications, a special examiner holds hearings, and then the FCC holds hearings on the examiner's recommendations. More months.

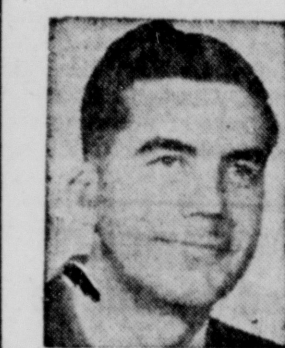

Finally, even if the FCC grants a license to one applicant, the others turned down can go into court to fight the FCC decisions. That can take years.

Fog Still Has Us Stumped

Man with all his technological and scientific accomplishments is still licked by blankets of fog which cover a large part of the country periodically. Huge trucks and sleek automobiles slow down from a normal speed to less than a turtle's crawl. Giant planes are grounded and ships either come to a standstill or sneak cautiously through channels.

Tomes have been written about fogs and poets have done themselves proud on the subject, but the man who wants to drive from his job to his home, or vice versa, is still worried about fogs. Fog lamps seem little more effective than would a candle stuck in a bowl of pea soup.

The main highways have white lines, but every driver in rural areas will testify to the need of better guides for intersections and on the feeder roads. Once a driver leaves a principal thoroughfare he's virtually blind and creeps along mostly by instinct. A familiar tree on the side of the road may keep him clear of a culvert or a light in a house may be his "lighthouse" to keep him from the shoals.

But generally there is a lack of signs that will warn a driver when he is approaching a particular corner, or when he is dangerously near the shoulders of a road.

A man behind the wheel of a super-car realizes only too well, as he crawls through fog, that despite the latest in automotive engineering and modern science in highway construction, he is still a puny creature at the mercy of nature.

Spending Not a Cure-All

"Spending" proposals continue to blossom in and out of Congress, but it has never been positively demonstrated that the government can actually manipulate the economy at will through peacetime deficit spending.

The "compensatory" spending theories of the late Lord Keynes were tried in the 1930s, but it wasn't until after the outbreak of World War II that the economy really came to life. The repeated massive deficits of the war years provided the basis for an explosive credit expansion when monetized into the towering public debt. Pentup consumer demand began expressing itself with the depreciated dollars the Treasury was printing. This consumer spending set off a frenzied capital. It's never been shown that all the complicated and minute interrelated factors comprising the total economy are fully susceptible to bureaucratic manipulation. Furthermore, no reference to "compensatory" spending is proper unless it is made clear that the true Keynesian theory was never followed in this country. Lord Keynes proposed that the debt incurred in lean times be reduced by the greater tax yields of the prosperous years.

That's where the compensation was supposed to occur. But in practice the growth of federal spending has always absorbed the increased tax revenues resulting from intensified economic activity.

Man in Moon Crying, 'Help'

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — Have you been saving up pennies to finance a vacation to the moon?

Well, if you have, now is a good time to stop, break open your piggy bank and spend the money on the nearest blonde. You'll have more fun.

Like millions of red-blooded Americans I, too, was eager to make a pioneer voyage to the moon. I was, that is, until I did a little research on the earth's only original, or pre-Russian moon.

Although I consulted such standard works as the Encyclopedia Britannica, I found their articles on the moon a bit too advanced for a mere tourist. After all, who knows what a synodic month is? Or a draconic month? And what does it mean to you to be told that on the moon the darker parts of Oceanus Procellarum reflect only an eighth as much light as the Crater Aristarchus?

The real blood-curdling facts about the moon, however, are fully bared in a little volume called "The Young Scientist's Funbook, for Boys and Girls age 10 to 15."

From this lunar Baedeker for the barefoot scholar, I learned: The moon is no place for insomniacs. The nights there are two weeks long. So are the days. The moon is no place for music lovers. Because it has no atmosphere, you can't hear a sound of any kind. In one way this is an advantage. You could sit three feet from a rock 'n' roll band and not even be aware it was playing.

The moon is no place for people who like to keep their feet on the ground. Because its gravitational pull is only a sixth that of the earth, you'd have trouble avoiding floating every time you went for a walk.

The moon is no place for claustrophobes. It has no air and the sky is black.

The moon is no place for people who like cold weather. During the day it is so hot that you could fry an egg in your hand. You'd fry, too.

When you get right down to it, the moon simply is no place for ordinary people at all. It isn't true that sleeping in moonlight will make you addled, as the old legend says, but anyone who pines to voyage to the moon to get away from the cares of earth is certainly deluded.

The next time you get a chance take a good long look at the man in the moon. Do you think he's smiling? He isn't. It's an optical illusion.

Actually, his mouth is wide open and he's crying, "Help!"

Satellite Delayed 12 Years

By George Sokolsky

It is impossible intelligently to read the testimony of Robert E. Gross, chairman of the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, before the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee, because most of it has been deleted. Nevertheless, one catches a word here and there. And the most important one is 1946.

For apparently it was in the year 1946 that this project was conceived. Lockheed subsequently went into various new weapons on a limited basis. How one engages in such an enterprise on a limited basis, it is difficult to say.

Most Americans assume that the United States got into the Sputnik business after we discovered that the Russians were beating us to the punch, but here we discover that the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation has been in the enterprise for at least 12 years. L. Eugene Root, a Lockheed vice president, testified:

"...It remains to give this program a complete authorization and centralized go on it, taking advantage of this work that has been going on since 1946. We have a tremendous group of subcontractors and associate contractors on this thing that number up into the fifties."

One needs to be a detective to piece together all the quarrels in the Pentagon, during the 12 years since 1946, among the Army, Navy and Air Force over which department will produce the Sputnik. For the Lockheed people produced a contract at the committee hearing, and Sen. Stennis wanted to know what the red lines in the contract meant.

And it turned out that the red lines indicated cancellations and changes.

R. A. Bailey of Lockheed said: "The contract which was cancelled was a new airplane and new system, a new electronics system. It was an entirely new airplane and system."

"Sen. Stennis. Was that to be used in connection with the early warning plan?"

"Mr. Bailey. Yes, sir."

"Early warning and control. It was to be used by the Navy in early warning, and for the Air Force in the contiguous areas."

I have no idea what all this means and I give it to you only as an example of the monkey business which has been going on for 12 years among the departments. During that time, the Russians made Sputniks which they succeeded in orbiting.

This situation has, for some reason, not yet been corrected and although President Eisenhower has, on at least three occasions, indicated that a centralized system of control of the new scientific weapons was being established, naming the person who would have authority, there is no indication that the separatism of the three services is less today than it was when James Forrestal sought to make the Department of Defense a unified administration.

The real trouble seems to be that there is a lack of money to do the job right, but it is not understandable why there should be a lack of money with the huge amounts that the United States is spending on national defense, except that so much is being spent on obsolete military activities that too little remains for the modernization of our weapons. Sen. Stuart Symington brought this issue to a head when he asked Bailey:

"...from the standpoint of the committee's record we want to be sure that there is no technical disagreement as to whether this is the best way to do it, or we can afford to have it later, or something of that character. It is just a direct lack of money, is that right?"

To this Bailey replied:

One in Christ

THERE IS ONE GOD, FATHER OF ALL, AND ONE CHRIST, JESUS

Scripture—Luke 9:49-50; John 17:20-26; Ephesians 4:1-16.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

IN THE first verses assigned to the lesson today, we find John telling Jesus that he and the other apostles had seen a man casting out devils in Christ's name. They had forbidden him to do so because he was not one of their number, although he was a convert to Christ.

Jesus' answer may have surprised John and the others, for He said, "Forbid him not: for he that is not against us is for us."

—St. Luke 9:50.

Jesus is facing the crisis of His life on earth. Death on the cross is ahead of Him, and He, the sinless one, prostrates Himself before His heavenly Father and pleads for His close companions on earth whom He loves. In two verses not assigned to our lesson but, it seems to me, belonging to it, are the words, "As Thou hast sent Me into the world, even so have I also sent them into the world. And for their sakes I sanctify Myself, that they

"the prisoner of the Lord," beseeching them to "walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called, with all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love; endeavoring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace."

We have commented before on these lessons of the bitter quarrels over religion in many churches. No wonder that a man might say that he would not join a church unless unity and peace through love had been attained. "There is one body, and one Spirit, even as you are called in one hope of your calling; one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all, who is above all, and in you all."

Each one is given a gift, even if some of us do not recognize what has been bestowed on us. In the church (any church) some have had the gift of being apostles. Paul writes that some have a gift of prophecy; some are evangelists, and some preachers and teachers—as we will rememalso might be sanctified through the truth."—John 17:18-19.

"Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on Me through their word: That they all may be one: as Thou, Father, art in Me, and I in Thee, that they also may be one in us: that the world may believe that Thou hast sent Me."

"And the glory which Thou gavest Me I have given them; that they may be one, even as We are one: I in them, and Thou in Me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that Thou hast sent Me, and hast loved them, as Thou hast loved Me."—John 17:20-26.

We have not space enough here to quote the remainder of this most beautiful of prayers of our Lord. It should be read by the older classes, at least, in its entirety.

Now we turn to Paul's epistle to the church members at Ephesus. He is writing from prison. Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and used by permission.

WILMINGTON (AP)—The plant of the Farquhar Furnace Co. here was destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon.

Bakery Union Funds Said Nearly Gone

CINCINNATI (AP)—Marcus R. Kondritzer, attorney, charged in Common Pleas Court Thursday that all but $122 of $68,000 in the treasury of a dispute bakery union local was spent last month.

He is attorney for the discredited Bakery and Confectionery Workers International Local, Local 213. Kondritzer made the statement as a hearing began on a motion to restrain the American Bakery and Confectionery Workers International Union from further dissipating the local's funds.

The Bakery and Confectionery Workers Union was removed from membership in the AFL-CIO last December. The AFL-CIO then set up a new organization of bakery and confectioners. Charters were offered to units wanting to break away from the discredited international. Among those chartered was a new Local 213.

Prior to last Jan. 25, Kondritzer said, the bulk of about $68,000 had been located. He said $40,000 of the money was paid to Walter F. Smith and Harold R. Latimer for services and expenses as attorneys in the local's dispute.

After hearing opening statements in the case, Judge Carson Hoy continued the hearing until next Monday.

Ohio Freight Rate Hike Is Protested

COLUMBUS (AP)—Five agencies protesting the application of all freight railroads in Ohio to raise rates on a selected group of commodities, has asked the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio to postpone its decision.

The five are the city of Cleveland, Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., North American Coal Corp., Ohio Coal Assn. and the Toledo Edison Co.

Their attorneys asked that the commission delay its decision until after a final ruling by the Interstate Commerce Commission on a national rate increase.

The ICC earlier this month permitted higher rates to go into effect, subject to further investigation and a possible refund if they are found to be unreasonable.

Ironton Plant Faces 'Short' Closedown

IRONTON (AP)—Allied Chemical and Dye Corp. plans to close a section of its Nitrogen Division plant March 1 for "a short duration."

The mixed fertilizer section will be closed, the company said, because bad weather has delayed fertilizer shipments and the company can't continue storing it. The plant is at nearby South Point.

The proof is in the tests!

"Buick brakes 100% better than Industry standard"

THE BEST WAY to find out who has the best brakes is to see how long they can stand up under tests like these:

Test #1 California: Driver: Griff Borgeson, an editor of SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED Magazine. Buick CENTURY results: 22 emergency-stops from 60 mph and brakes still fully effective. Buick proved 2 times better than the closest American car tested.

Test #2 Florida: Driver: NASCAR President Bill France. Buick CENTURY results: 176 crisis-stops at 60 mph and brakes still going strong. Buick proved up to 8 times better than other cars tested.

How could Buick be so far ahead of other cars? Buick's brakes get rid of heat fast because they're aluminum. And only Buick has air-cooled aluminum brakes—standard on every CENTURY, SUPER, ROADMASTER 75 and LIMITED, optional at extra cost on every SPECIAL.

So for stopping-power that matches go-power—you'd better buy Buick.

One in Christ

THERE IS ONE GOD, FATHER OF ALL, AND ONE CHRIST, JESUS

Scripture—Luke 9:49-50; John 17:20-26; Ephesians 4:1-16.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

IN THE first verses assigned to the lesson today, we find John telling Jesus that he and the other apostles had seen a man casting out devils in Christ's name. They had forbidden him to do so because he was not one of their number, although he was a convert to Christ.

Jesus' answer may have surprised John and the others, for He said, "Forbid him not: for he that is not against us is for us."—St. Luke 9:50.

Jesus is facing the crisis of His life on earth. Death on the cross is ahead of Him, and He, the sinless one, prostrates Himself before His heavenly Father and pleads for His close companions on earth whom He loves. In two verses not assigned to our lesson but, it seems to me, belonging to it, are the words, "As Thou hast sent Me into the world, even so have I also sent them into the world. And for their sakes I sanctify Myself, that they also might be sanctified through the truth."—John 17:18-19.

"To us there is but one God, the Father, . . . and one Lord, Jesus Christ."—I Corinthians 8:6.

"Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on Me through their word: That they all may be one; as Thou, Father, art in Me, and I in Thee, that they also may be one in us: that the world may believe that Thou hast sent Me."—John 17:20-26.

"And the glory which Thou gavest Me I have given them; that they may be one, even as We are one: I in them, and Thou in Me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that Thou hast sent Me, and hast loved them, as Thou hast loved Me."—John 17:22-26.

We have not space enough here to quote the remainder of this most beautiful of prayers of our Lord. It should be read by the older classes, at least, in its entirety.

Now we turn to Paul's epistle to the church members at Ephesus. He is writing from prison. Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and used by permission.

"Buick brakes 100% better than Industry standard"

THE BEST WAY to find out who has the best brakes is to see how long they can stand up under tests like these:

Test #1 California: Driver: Griff Borgeson, an editor of SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED Magazine. Buick CENTURY results: 22 emergency-stops from 60 mph and brakes still fully effective. Buick proved 2 times better than the closest American car tested.

Test #2 Florida: Driver: NASCAR President Bill France. Buick CENTURY results: 176 crisis-stops at 60 mph and brakes still going strong. Buick proved up to 8 times better than other cars tested.

How could Buick be so far ahead of other cars? Buick's brakes get rid of heat fast because they're aluminum. And only Buick has air-cooled aluminum brakes—standard on every CENTURY, SUPER, ROADMASTER 75 and LIMITED, optional at extra cost on every SPECIAL.

So for stopping-power that matches go-power—you'd better buy Buick.

Before Trying Newest Diet, Find Out Overweight Cause

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Before starting a diet to take off those extra pounds, try to find out why you ate them on in the first place. Maybe you shouldn't even try to reduce.

Specialists in obesity — physicians, psychologists and nutritionists — are increasingly convinced that in many cases we overeat to satisfy emotional rather than physical needs.

"Before going on a diet," says nutritionist Charlotte M. Young, "you should learn why you should go on — or are put on — reducing regimes without concern for the reason the weight is there."

Food serves many purposes in life besides the basic one of stoking the body's fires. Hospitality, for instance, is closely associated with food. Unplanned leisure, with resulting boredom, frequently leads to the refrigerator. We eat during baseball and football games; while watching television.

"We live in anxious times without much physical outlet for our anxieties," says Dr. Young. "To many, food becomes a solace."

"I feel certain that many people have adjusted to their problems, emotional in nature, by overeating. And that may be a satisfactory adjustment — and if so, what is so dreadful about being a bit overweight?"

Despite the spate of surefire reducing diets and the popularity of weight-reduction articles and books, repeated experiments show many people have comparatively little success peeling off pounds, even when their programs are highly controlled and well disciplined.

Typical was a recent clinic for the overweight headed by Dr. Young, who is professor of medical nutrition in Cornell University's Graduate School of Nutrition, and by Dr. Norman S. Moore, the school's professor of clinical medicine.

In 28 months, 168 overweight persons were treated. Only a quarter of the patients were successful. Another quarter lost some pounds; another quarter took off a few pounds and the rest accomplished nothing.

"It was our impression that success was largely related to the patient's emotional stability," the researchers said in a report published in the Journal of the American Dietetic Assn. "The 'reasonably stable' patients were largely quite successful, while those who appeared to have 'deeper emotional problems' were largely unsuccessful."

Dr. Young says flatly that people get fat simply by eating more food than they need. We are an overweight nation because, among other things, we have plenty of food, expend little energy in our small, well-heated houses, go in for watching sports instead of participating in them.

The experts—even the housewife — know HOW to take off pounds. It is simply a matter of eating fewer calories than we burn up. The problem is to DO it.

Obviously, points out Dr. Young, the best way to handle obesity is by not putting on weight in the first place. Next best, she feels, is keeping the pounds under control.

"It is much, much easier to reduce a small amount," she says. "People with a few pounds to lose can be most hopeful about taking them off. Pay attention when you put on an extra 15, or 10 or even 5 pounds."

Experiments have found two most important factors in losing weight successfully. The first is motivation—a real and abiding desire to reduce. The second is to have someone to whom the patient reports regularly. The average successful dieter is not a do-it-yourself type.

Assuming an overweight person has been able to figure out why he is overeating (a project which may require help from a physician, a psychiatrist or psychologist) and also has strong motives to slim down, there are good times and bad times to launch the diet.

"Best results come when life circumstances are best," she says. "It's no time to start reducing when one is emotionally disturbed—when a woman is newly widowed or when a man is starting a new job."

All things being perfect, is rolling off pounds as easy as rolling off that log, as the articles and books imply?

"Reducing," said Dr. Young with a certain grimace of tone, "is one of the hardest things in the world to do. Everyone is looking for an easy way to do it, but I don't think there is one."

"The more we know about the problem, the more I lean to the view that so long as we continue to lead such physically inactive lives, we will just have to settle for one of two things: being overweight, or being a little bit hungry all of the time."

"Abraham Lincoln's Trust in God" was presented by Mrs. Ned Long. "George Washington's Humility," by Mrs. Arthur Winfough. "Unawares" was presented by Mrs. Clarence Finch and "Patsy Pride," by Mrs. E. L. Sheets.

SHY ABOUT talking? Ask people about themselves, advises actress Elaine Stritch. It's a good conversation-starter.

Actress Tells You How To Start Conversation

It's terrible to be shy, tongue-tied, afraid to open your mouth, always at a loss for something to say.

This is something that comes upon us all occasionally—when we're overwhelmed by meeting someone we admire tremendously, when we're thrown into a group of total strangers, when we're with people who are discussing something we don't know the first thing about.

When it happens, we can appreciate how paralyzing it must be to be tongue-tied all the time, and there are people like that. They worry that anything they say will sound dull or stupid.

What can be done about this? We asked actress Elaine Stritch, renowned as an amusing conversationalist and a good listener.

"Plunge right into a conversational swimming. Don't be frightened. Don't spatter conversation around violently. Be calm. Take it easy. But say something — something simple and commonplace. Even mention the weather."

It's good advice, but it posed a question: And then what?

"Then," said Miss Stritch, who's blonde, attractive and will soon be seen in the new movie version of "Farewell to Arms," "then say something else. Tell people your name, where you're from, what you do for a living. Ask them about themselves—that never fails as a conversation-starter."

"You can always keep talk going by asking for somebody's opinion. What does a woman think tion," she said. "It's just like about the new chemise shape? What does a man think about the United States missile program?"

"Once you get the conversation started," said the talkative blonde, "you can just sit back, make an occasional comment, pose a question or two. It's easy as that."

As an afterthought, she added:

"Nobody should worry about not being a talker. That's not the important thing. If you don't like to gab, just cue the talkers and they'll carry on."

"Don't think it's a dreadful thing to be a quiet person. Not at all! The big bores aren't quiet people. They're people who talk and talk—much too much!"

Wins Crown in Mid-Ohio Loop

Quakers To Take 20-2 Record into District NAIA Cage Tourney

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wilmington concluded one of its best regular basketball seasons Thursday night, defeating Cedarville 89-62. The win gave Wilmington the Mid-Ohio League championship.

The Quakers lost only two of their 20 games, and had an 11-1 mark in the league.

The game was not the last for Wilmington, though. The Quakers will proceed to the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics district basketball tournament in Youngstown Tuesday. There they will face a fellow Mid-Ohio team, Delaware.

The game, at Cedarville, was the Yellow Jackets' finale. Cedarville wound up with a 2-10 league mark and 7-15 over-all record.

Two other teams ended their 1957-58 seasons, Oberlin and Denison.

Oberlin took a 69-63 victory from Ashland and ran its mark to 12-6. Ashland's Ron Pratt took scoring honors with 29 points. For Ashland it was the 13th loss in 17 games. They have one more contest left.

Denison closed its season with a 119-88 defeat at Findlay. The Oilers (16-3) had little trouble in handing the Big Red their ninth loss in the 19-game schedule.

In a Presidents' Athletic Conference battle in Detroit, John Carroll ended its conference season by defeating Wayne State 74-57 and collecting its first PAC crown. Wayne has won the two previous titles. The conference was formed three years ago.

Carroll wound up with a perfect 6-0 mark. They own a 10-7 season mark and have one game remaining.

Wooster led most of the way to ring up an Ohio Conference victory over Heidelberg, 77-72, in Tiffin. Wooster is 8-3 in the conference. The Student Princes are 5-9.

If officials of the National Invitation Basketball Tournament haven't formed a special pre-tournament cheering section for Tom Blackburn's Dayton Flyers, perhaps it's high time they did.

Pickings have been slim for the NIT. The Flyers are the only acceptees rated among the nation's top 20 in the Associated Press poll.

Until or unless defending champion Bradley joins the field as the Missouri Valley Conference runner-up, 10th-ranked Dayton will continue to be the only rated NIT team.

Bradley, trailing Cincinnati in an MVC race that could end Saturday, is No. 16. None of the possibilities for the two other remaining NIT berths figures to crack the top 20.

The Flyers have a 22-2 record and a 15-game winning streak after Thursday night's 103-69 rout of one of the NCAA's at-large selections, Loyola of New Orleans.

With Arlen Bockhorn popping 22 points to lead the way, the Flyers hit 55 per cent of their shots, and thoroughly rattled Loyola by stealing the ball 18 times.

Utah, named to the NIT Thursday with a good nonconference record, finally clicked within its group, spilling Brigham Young 74-56 in a Skyline Conference test.

Two other NCAA "at larges" had better luck than Loyola. Don Hennon's 31 points enabling Pitt to nip Westminster (Pa.) 75-74, and Pete Brunone's 29 pointing the way in Manhattan's 95-77 rout of archrival New York University.

Iona (N.Y.), an NIT longshot possibility, ran its record to 16-6 in an 82-77 double overtime decision over St. Francis of Brooklyn. Furman whipped The Citadel 90-74 to clinch, with a 4-8 record, the eighth and last berth in the postseason tournament that determines the Southern Conference's NCAA representative.

Tim Tam Heads Hialeah Stake

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Nine other 3-year-olds are expected to challenge favored Tim Tam Saturday in Hialeah Park's $100,000-added Flamingo Stakes, first major test for triple crown hopefuls.

Tim Tam carries the colors of Calumet Farm, with whom the Kentucky Derby with Iron Liege last year. The dark brown son of handicapper star Tom Fool has been installed an early 8-5 choice over such respected opponents as Claiborne Farm's Nadir and Mrs. Elizabeth Graham's Jewel's Reward, a good mudder.

NCAA OKs Controlled TV

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Member colleges and universities of the National Collegiate Athletic Association voted overwhelmingly to retain controlled telecasting for next fall's football games.

Members voted 194-14 in favor. Two-thirds was required.

The control plan is similar to last year's, with nine national network telecasts and four Saturdays reserved for regional games.

WINTER-TIME WONDERS—Outstanding stars in the Latin leagues which are winding up winter play include the five young big leaguers shown above. Dick Stuart, the minor league slugger who tried to make the Bucs last year, hit 14 home runs to set a Dominican loop record. Fred Kipp, Dodger rookie, had a 11-3 pitching mark in the same league. Marv Throneberry of the Yankees led the Nicaraguan clubs with a .344 bat mark while Hector Lopez of the Athletics paced the Panama gang with a .387 hit mark. Juan Pizarro, the Braves' young southpaw pitcher, was selected the most valuable player in the Puerto Rican league. (International)

Johnson Leads Tiger Scoring

Sharpshooter Bill Johnson paced Circleville Tiger cage scoring this season with an average of 20.1 points in 18 games.

Following Johnson was big Jon Pancher who accumulated a 11.5 average for the same number of games. Guard Mike Hosler was next with a 9.5 average.

Johnson's average was the result of 361 points scored during the season. His single high game was 35 points at Greenfield.

The jump shot artist almost proved to be more effective away from home as his second high production came in a contest at Columbus Aquinas. He scored 34 markers in this one.

His poorest game was here against Lucasville, a contest in which the entire Tiger team was cold. He hit for only eight points in this test, marking the only game of the season in which he didn't fire for double figures.

Johnson's best toss for the hoop was a jump shot which he could hit from all over. However, he was deadly from underneath, especially on tips and drives.

Pancher's average came on a total of 208 points in 18 games. He excelled underneath where his height came in handy.

Centralia Advances in 'A' Tournament at Piketon Gym

The Centralia Bulldogs won their first round game in the Class "A" district at Piketon last night with an 87-67 victory over Sinking Springs of Highland County.

Centralia trailed early in the first quarter 10-8 before taking the lead that they never relinquished. Springs, now 16-7, suffered four of its defeats at the hands of Lynchburg, of the same county. The game was exceptional.

Ohio Sports Record Book Now Available

Ohio, justly proud of its fine high school athletic program and many stars produced in the sports field, can be equally proud of an All-Sports Record Book just published by the Ohio High School Athletic Assn.

Marking the first of its kind ever published in this country, the book climaxes eight years of research by Allan White, former sports editor of the Lima News. The 450-page edition covers 10 varsity sports.

Four years ago White published "The Sweet 16", a history of state high school basketball tournaments.

How great were Olympians Jesse Owens and Harrison Dillard as Ohio high school track stars? And Wimbledon champions Tony Trabert and Billy Talbert in High School tennis? Walker Cupper Johnny Fisher in golf, and big leaguers like Wally Post and Don Zimmer in high school baseball?

THEIR feats and those of more than 15,000 other Ohio high school stars are recounted in the new record book.

The new edition includes state meet summaries on track and field, dating back to 1907; tennis to 1920, basketball to 1923, gymnastics 1926 through 1937 (discontinued), swimming and golf to 1927, baseball and cross-country to 1928, wrestling to 1938; and miscellaneous records in football—the only sport for which there is no championship elimination.

Alloting points to schools advancing the furthest in state competition down through the years, White compiled an all-time index which shows Canton McKinley has produced the best overall sports program since the OHSAA took over the championship eliminations 35 years ago.

Lakewood ranks second, followed by Springfield, Mansfield, Cincinnati Hughes, Hamilton, Columbus North, Cincinnati Western Hills, Middletown and Toledo Scott.

According to the Ohio High School Athletic Assn. only 5,000 of the books will be printed. Approximately 2,000 will go to schools, newspapers and other groups, leaving only 3,000 copies for public consumption.

A small percentage of the 3,000 will be retained in Dayton, Toledo, Columbus, Cleveland, Canton, Athens, Middletown, Hamilton, Lima and Cincinnati. The remainder will be available through mail order.

Further information on the book may be obtained by contacting Allan White, Box 1723, Cincinnati 1, Ohio.

The big center was up and down in the scoring department. His highest output was 23 points here against Greenfield. He also hit for 22 in each game against Hillsboro and Logan. His lowest for the season was one point against Aquinas.

Hosler dropped below the double figure average but was a mainstay as a playmaker and ball handler. Many of Johnson and Parcher's points were the result of accurate passes by the fiery guard.

Another top ball handler and a team player was Don Rowland who registered a 5.8 average in 16 games. The junior guard landed a starting berth after about the fifth game of the season and got the nod for every tilt after that. His favorite was a long and high shot from far out, with either one or two hands.

OTHER valuable assistance came from John Wright, Dick Smith, Walt Arledge and Al Elise. Wright earned a 3.8 average, Smith 3.7, Arledge 3.4 and Elise 3.4.

Nelson Kelley and Joe Adkins each got into one game and each scored four points. Bill Purcell got in one game for two points.

Top Choice Teams Still Winning

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The top-talent teams picked by Ohio's sports writers are doing well, thank you, in the upset-filled sectional high school basketball tournaments now under way.

All the top 10 Class AA quintets picked by the scribes in the final Associated Press poll are still around, as well as nine of the 10 leaders in Class A. Only Sabina's seventh-ranked club has bowed out.

1957 Hunting Casualties Give Material for Thought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Division of Wildlife came up with a batch of statistics on 1957 hunting casualties today—enough to give even the most careful hunter some material for thought.

For instance: Pheasant, rabbit and squirrel hunting, on the basis of pure statistics, seems the most dangerous. By far the greatest number of hunters wounded or killed (43 per cent) were 19 years of age or under.

About a third of the hunter casualties (32 per cent) had been hunting only 1 to 3 years, but 30 per cent had hunted for 11-20 years, and 22 per cent 21 years or longer. Sixteen per cent had been hunting 4-10 years.

Some more figures: Total casualties, 118; total fatal casualties, 15 (13 per cent of the total); self-inflicted casualties 38 (32 per cent of total); casualties in accidents not self-inflicted, 80 (68 per cent of total).

How the accidents happened: Where discharge of weapon was intentional—victim moved in line of fire, 14; victim covered by shooter, 14; victim out of sight of shooter, 14; victim mistaken for game, 14.

In accidental discharge of guns—Shooter stumbled and fell, 11; clubbing cover or game, 1; trigger caught on brush or other object, 4; removing weapon from or placing in vehicle, 7; crossing fence or other obstacle with loaded weapon,

2; loading, 1; unloading, 1; defective weapon, 4.

Causes of many accidents were not determined.

Shotguns caused 99 of the casualties, rifles 11, handguns 3, bow and arrow 1. Weapons in three of the casualties were not identified.

In 1956, there was a total of 98 hunting casualties in Ohio, 11 of them fatal.

Wildlife officials are considering a 3,017-acre tract of land in Union County as a prospective public hunting area. Locally, the area is known as "Bear Swamp" or "Ottor Run."

It is four miles long and a mile wide, lying a mile south of Peoria and four miles northwest of Marysville.

Fishermen: Your 1957 fishing license expires today. Cost of the 1958 resident fishing license, now on sale, is $2 plus 25 cents writing fee.

The problem of getting more wildlife available in Ohio for hunters is being attacked in a program known as the "Pioneer Waterfowl Project."

Ohio game technicians have obtained waterfowl brood stock from the federal controlled Delta Research Station in Manitoba, Canada.

The ducks are at the Urbana Game Farm in Champaign County, where the brood stock is being used in an operation designed to increase Ohio's population of pen-necked waterfowl. It is expected that in 1959 there will be enough ducks to make releases on several sites.

Some of the questions still to be answered are whether the birds will prosper, whether they will fly south in the fall, and most important, whether they will be of use to hunters.

Sensational Horse Wins When 'Losing'

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—You've had tips on horses. Well, here's a horse who can give you a tip. He knows how to win when he's losing.

This has made Silky Sullivan, a 3-year-old, the sensational darling of those who have read about him, seen him run. Early in a race he falls so far behind you'd think he was setting the pace for the next feature.

But then, when all seems absolutely lost, this colt appears to shift gears. Within a stride or two he flares from a jaunty gallop to a blaze of speed. From dead last, usually, he begins to catch up, then pass. Horse after horse is left behind. And, at the last moment, he's in front.

"I'll admit it scares me," says Silky's co-owner, retired banker-rancher Phil Klipstein of Bakersfield, Calif.

Silky is beautiful — big, well formed, shiny gold in the sun, his tail long and blond. Racetrack men call him a chestnut in the shade. But the important facts about Silky are these:

In his last two races he was officially measured trailing the lead horse by 31 lengths on Santa Anita's backstretch. A running length, in horse parlance, is about 10 feet.

Yet he charged up the stretch like a fire engine, after shifting gears, and he won.

That was in one race. In the other he did exactly the same thing, and got beaten only by a neck.

632 Lucky Fans To Get Tickets

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sometime between now and mid-March, 632 applicants will find tickets to the State High School Basketball Tournament in their mailboxes.

About 4,500 other applicants will also find something in their mailboxes—the requests they originally sent to the Ohio High School Athletic Assn.

With 2,000 tickets available to the public for the March 21-22 tournament at Ohio State University's St. John Arena here, officials conducted a drawing from the 5,000-plus requests. It took only 632 letters—no more than four tickets could be requested per letter—to exhaust the supply.

Mantle Signs Yankee Pact For $72,000

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's just no pleasing some guys. Only a few hours after he became the third highest on all-time New York Yankee salary lists with a $72,000 contract, Mickey Mantle wound up throwing a gold club into a lake when he blew a two-foot putt.

The round of golf (he shot an 86) capped a busy day Thursday for the Mick, who now ranks behind only Joe DiMaggio ($100,000 in 1949) and Babe Ruth ($80,000 in 1930 and 1931) in Yankee pay.

Mantle's quick agreement with the Yankees, who first had offered about $68,000 while Mickey insisted on $75,000, stole the spotlight from Roy Sievers, who snatched Mantle's American League home run and runs-batted-in titles last season.

While Mantle edged up behind Boston's Ted Williams ($135,000) and St. Louis' Stan Musial ($100,000) as No. 3 on the high price list among active players, Sievers agreed to $36,000 with the Washington Senators — who never paid more to any player.

Sievers hit 42 home runs and drove in 114 last season. For that display, he wanted his 1957 salary ($19,000) doubled. Instead he picked up a $17,000 boost, also high for the Senators, who previously had paid as much as $35,000 to Joe Cronin and Tris Speaker.

Palmer Leading At Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Husky Arnold Palmer, steadily whipping his golf game into shape for the Masters Tournament, battled an ambitious field today to protect his one-stroke lead in the $15,000 Baton Rouge Open.

The 28-year-old Latrobe, Pa., player, who said he was pacing himself this year for an all-out bid to win the Augusta, Ga., tourney, took only 27 putts Thursday for a 3-under-par 67.

He faces not only the toughest competition in the seven-year history of the event, but also a jinx that has knocked out the first day leader in the last five tourneys. Not since 1952, when Jackie Burke won, has the 18-hole leader won the event.

1957 Hunting Casualties Give Material for Thought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Division of Wildlife came up with a batch of statistics on 1957 hunting casualties today—enough to give even the most careful hunter some material for thought.

For instance: Pheasant, rabbit and squirrel hunting, on the basis of pure statistics, seems the most dangerous. By far the greatest number of hunters wounded or killed (43 per cent) were 19 years of age or under.

About a third of the hunter casualties (32 per cent) had been hunting only 1 to 3 years, but 30 per cent had hunted for 11-20 years, and 22 per cent 21 years or longer. Sixteen per cent had been hunting 4-10 years.

Some more figures: Total casualties, 118; total fatal casualties, 15 (13 per cent of the total); self-inflicted casualties 38 (32 per cent of total); casualties in accidents not self-inflicted, 80 (68 per cent of total).

How the accidents happened: Where discharge of weapon was intentional-victim moved in line of fire, 14; victim covered by shooter swing on game, 8; victim out of sight of shooter, 15; victim mistaken for game, 14.

In accidental discharge of guns—Shooter stumbled and fell, 11; clubbing cover or game, 1; trigger caught on brush or other object, 4; removing weapon from or placing in vehicle, 7; crossing fence or other obstacle with loaded weapon,

2; loading, 1; unloading, 1; defective weapon, 4.

Causes of many accidents were not determined.

Shotguns caused 99 of the casualties, rifles 11, handguns 3, bow and arrow 1. Weapons in three of the casualties were not identified.

In 1956, there was a total of 98 hunting casualties in Ohio, 11 of them fatal.

Wildlife officials are considering a 3,017-acre tract of land in Union County as a prospective public hunting area. Locally, the area is known as "Bear Swamp" or "Otter Run."

It is four miles long and a mile wide, lying a mile south of Peoria and four miles northwest of Marysville.

Fishermen: Your 1957 fishing license expires today. Cost of the 1958 resident fishing license, now on sale, is $2 plus 25 cents writing fee.

The problem of getting more wildlife available in Ohio for hunters is being attacked in a program known as the "Pioneer Waterfowl Project."

Ohio game technicians have obtained waterfowl brood stock from the federal controlled Delta Research Station in Manitoba, Canada.

The ducks are at the Urbana Game Farm in Champaign County, where the brood stock is being used in an operation designed to increase Ohio's population of penne waterfowl. It is expected that in 1959 there will be enough ducks to make releases on several sites.

Some of the questions still to be answered are whether the birds will prosper, whether they will fly south in the fall, and most important, will "homing instinct" bring them back to Ohio?

Game technicians say it will take several years to answer these questions. If the plan works, then Ohio will have pioneered a new phase in waterfowl management that could mean more ducks for Ohio hunters.

Sensational Horse Wins When 'Losing'

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—You've had tips on horses. Well, here's a horse who can give you a tip. He knows how to win when he's losing.

This has made Silky Sullivan, a 3-year-old, the sensational darling of those who have read about him, seen him run. Early in a race he falls so far behind you'd think he was setting the pace for the next feature.

But then, when all seems absolutely lost, this colt appears to shift gears. Within a stride or two he flares from a jaunty gallop to a blaze of speed. From dead last, usually, he begins to catch up, then pass. Horse after horse is left behind. And, at the last moment, he's in front.

"I'll admit it scares me," says Silky's co-owner, retired banker-rancher Phil Klipstein of Bakersfield, Calif.

Silky is beautiful — big, well formed, shiny gold in the sun, his tail long and blond. Racetrack men call him a chestnut, in the shade. But the important facts about Silky are these:

In his last two races he was officially measured trailing the lead horse by 31 lengths on Santa Anita's backstretch. A running length, in horse parlance, is about 10 feet.

Yet he charged up the stretch like a fire engine, after shifting gears, and he won.

That was in one race. In the other he did exactly the same thing, and got beaten only by a neck.

632 Lucky Fans To Get Tickets

COLUMBUS (AP)—Sometime between now and mid-March, 632 applicants will find tickets to the State High School Basketball Tournament in their mailboxes.

About 4,500 other applicants will also find something in their mailboxes—the requests they originally sent to the Ohio High School Athletic Assn.

With 2,000 tickets available to the public for the March 21-22 tournament at Ohio State University's St. John Arena here, officials conducted a drawing from the 5,000-plus requests. It took only 632 letters—no more than four tickets could be requested per letter—to exhaust the supply.

Mantle Signs Yankee Pact For $72,000

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There's just no pleasing some guys. Only a few hours after he became the third highest on all-time New York Yankee salary lists with a $72,000 contract, Mickey Mantle wound up throwing a gold club into a lake when he blew a two-foot putt.

The round of golf (he shot an 86) capped a busy day Thursday for the Mick, who now ranks behind only Joe DiMaggio ($100,000 in 1949) and Babe Ruth ($80,000 in 1930 and 1931) in Yankee pay.

Mantle's quick agreement with the Yankees, who first had offered about $68,000 while Mickey insisted on $75,000, stole the spot-

Undeclared Ortiz Faces Tom Tibbs

League home run and runs-batted-in titles last season.

While Mantle edged up behind Boston's Ted Williams ($135,000) and St. Louis' Stan Musial ($100,000) as No. 3 on the high price list among active players, Sievers agreed to $36,000 with the Washington Senators — who never paid more to any player.

Sievers hit 42 home runs and drove in 114 last season. For that display, he wanted his 1957 salary ($19,000) doubled. Instead he picked up a $17,000 boost, also high for the Senators, who previously had paid as much as $35,000 to Joe Cronin and Tris Speaker.

Detroit Tightens Pro League Hold

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Detroit's hold on second place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn. was a little more secure today but not so for the runner-up Syracuse Nationals in the Eastern Division.

The Pistons moved 1½ games in front of third place Cincinnati Thursday night by defeating the Minneapolis Lakers 112-109 in the first game of a doubleheader here. Then the Nationals, with a chance to apply the crusher to Philadelphia's hopes for second place in the Eastern Section, dropped a 97-91 decision to the Warriors.

O'Neill Names Patrol Major Liquor Boss

Moon's Selection Told At Press Talk; Other Actions Discussed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill has announced the appointment of a Highway Patrol major, Floyd Moon, as the state's new liquor director. Moon succeeds Robert Krupansky, recently named common pleas judge in Cuyahoga County.

The announcement came at a news conference Thursday at the governor's mansion. The 45-minute conference was O'Neill's second since his heart attack.

O'Neill said Moon, 49, a Columbus resident, will start his new job Tuesday. He has been with the Highway Patrol since 1934.

Moon has worked with the Liquor Department before. He was loaned to the Liquor Department to serve as enforcement chief for the last five months of 1947 and again for the first five months of 1957.

Although the appointment to the $12,000 a year job is permanent, Moon will be on leave from the Patrol.

Turning to a recent opinion by Atty. Gen. William Saxbe, which holds that Columbus residents who serve on state boards without pay are entitled to expenses for attending meetings in Columbus, O'Neill said:

"I am not going to permit any people in my administration who live in Columbus to be paid expenses. I think it would set a bad precedent."

On the subject of highways, the governor said he has no information about any individual cases in which excessive prices reportedly were paid for land for highway purposes. He expressed confidence in the Highway Department's condemnation policy.

O'Neill said the state should not take advantage of property owners but the state has an obligation to taxpayers to see that their money is spent properly.

When questioned on reports that Civil Service examinations have been delayed for thousands of state employees, the governor stated:

"The Civil Service Commission ought to give examinations to all of those people who are under provisional appointment and to give them as quickly as possible."

Reporting on the Committee on Education Beyond the High School, O'Neill said the committee chairman, Dr. John C. Baker, president of Ohio University, has reported that state-supported universities will have at least 22 branches in various cities by next September. About 10 branches are operating.

The committee's final report, planned for April, is expected to recommend creation of two-year technical institutes on the college level in Ohio, O'Neill said.

On the recent drop in revenues, O'Neill again expressed confidence that the state can live within its revenues. He said newly tightened controls on the state's spending will prevent deficit financing and enable the state to keep its welfare commitments on a matching basis.

O'Neill said he will return to his Statehouse office as soon as physicians permit. He said he hopes to return before March 20, which is the scheduled date for Republican county chairmen to kick off the 1958 election campaign at a meeting in Columbus.

Nixon Tells Ohioans Recession Could Hurt GOP in Election

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Republican Party could be hurt in the coming congressional elections if there is no improvement in the current economic situation, Vice President Nixon said Thursday night.

But, he added: "We think the economy is going up. Some of our opponents say it is not. If things go up, the Republicans will be all right."

"If they continue to stay down the Republicans are in trouble."

At this point in the 1958 political year, Nixon said, the Republicans are the "underdogs."

"But I like the underdog position," he added quickly. Nixon made the remarks in an interview during the ride from the airport with his wife Pat to a dinner honoring George Humphrey, former secretary of the treasury.

Nixon said in the interview that a poor economic situation is the "most weakening thing" there is to a national administration.

Harry Truman won the 1948 presidential election against Thomas E. Dewey because of a late improvement in the economy, Nixon said.

He repeated President Eisenhower's position that the bottom of the recession has been reached and the upturn will come soon.

During the interview he asked also about the health of Gov. C. William O'Neill, who suffered a recent heart attack.

The vice president was the featured speaker at the National Brotherhood Award Dinner of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, at which Humphrey was cited.

In his speech Nixon said the Eisenhower administration will take "whatever action is necessary" to halt the recession and stimulate economic recovery. The problem is one of timing, Nixon said. He added:

"Acting too fast and too extensively can lead only to a renewal of inflation."

"Because the economy is basically sound and because of action the administration has taken and is prepared to take, the American people can make their plans for 1958 with confidence rather than fear."

About 1,000 persons attended the dinner. The vice president presented the Brotherhood Award to Humphrey. In an accompanying citation the former secretary of the treasury was cited for his "integrity, courage and vision in advancing practical brotherhood."

Following the dinner Nixon and his wife flew back to Washington.

Deputy-Killer Mowed Down By Texas Cops

ODESSA, Tex. — Peace officers mowed down the killer of a deputy sheriff before he could pull the trigger on his cocked pistol Thursday night.

Sheriff Lem Gabriel said the slain suspect was G. F. (Jack) McMichael, 36, an ex-convict sought in a two-state manhunt. Deputy Thad West, 40, was shot without warning Thursday morning while checking a baby selling report.

Gabriel said McMichael was found at the home of a girl friend. Officers surrounded the house.

The sheriff said McMichael came to the front door with a pistol in his hand, then dashed for the back door after spotting the deputies outside.

"We shouted for him to halt," the sheriff said, "and he whirled and cocked his pistol."

Several officers fired about the same time and McMichael fell without shooting.

Deputy West was killed as he walked into an apartment to check reports an effort had been made to sell a 4-month-old girl.

The mother of the baby, Mrs. Pat Ledbetter, 18, told officers McMichael emerged from her bathroom and shot West who never had a chance to reach for his pistol.

Serman is the second attorney to be accused in the alleged swindle.

NW Ohio Masons To Hold Wage Line

FREMONT — Bricklayers, plasterers and cement finishers in seven northwestern Ohio counties will hold the line on wages during 1958, union representatives and contractors employing them have reported.

The nine employers and 15 union representatives extended for one year to April 1, 1959, contracts covering 432 workers in Sandusky, Huron, Erie, Ottawa, Seneca, Hancock, and a part of Wyandot counties.

The decision that "this is not the time" to increase wages was the first such in the building crafts in northern Ohio this year.
